Executive Summary

This deliverable contains the description of each of the end users applications for the SHAREWORK project. This document gathers the essential information that will be needed to convert the production lines selected in the project into human-robot collaborative environments through the implementation of the SHAREWORK modules. The present deliverable contains the description of the products, the manufacturing process, the required tools, the operators' skills and the end users' desired improvement that will be converted into the preliminary definition of SHAREWORK activities that should be carried out.
